BOOK SYNOPSIS

Food and family in Hawaii go hand-in-hand as there is seldom a gathering large or small without an array of favorite recipes being served. Everyone looks forward to ohana get-togethers and reunions where all the favorite dishes from the grandmas, aunties, and cousins are savored and enjoyed. Hawaii is unique in that all household members participate in the culinary process the men as well as the women, the kids as well as the grownups. Not surprisingly, most of our local chefs attribute their start to an early introduction to cooking either watching their mom, dad, grandmother, or grandfather cook, or helping in the kitchen, or going along to do the food shopping and visiting local markets. To celebrate family cooking in the Islands, the Honolulu Star-Advertiser has gathered 105 of Hawaiis ohana recipes that cover our Islands multicultural heritage. Here are our cooking treasures, secrets, and traditions.
